University of Wisconsin
Madison 6, Wisconsin

Dear President Fred:

Thank you very much for your letter of August 30, 1951, regarding the participation of [redacted] in the conference to be held at the University on World Land Tenure Problems. I have noted the extent of your plans and believe that they will result in an effective and valuable meeting.

I deeply regret that due to the pressure of [redacted] duties here for the next few months, it will not be possible for him to attend this conference. Unfortunately, we do not have an available substitute at this time.

However, I have been advised that [redacted] Consultant to Food Research, Stanford University, and author of the book "Socialist Agriculture of the USSR", is well-qualified to discuss land policies of the Communist countries and related economic issues. In the event you may desire to contact [redacted] his address is [redacted]

Sincerely,
